

A SIX COURSE DINNER.

BY CORNELIA C. BEDFORD.

Here is a dinner good enough for a dinner party, yet not too intricate or costly to be served at the home table. The needed materials can be found in any section of the country.

Cream of Pea Soup
Fish Timbale
Sauce Allemande
Parisienne Potatoes
Beef à la Mode
Brown Gravy
Rice Croquettes
Spinach
Tomato Jelly Salad
Cheese Fingers
Hamburg Cream
Coffee.

In planning the amount of materials needed it will be found easy to add or take from the quantities here given, which are sufficient for six persons.

Open one can of June peas and turn the entire contents into the soup kettle. Add one bay leaf, a blade of mace, a half teaspoonful of salt, a dozen peppercorns and a pint of boiling water. Simmer slowly for fifteen minutes, working frequently with a wooden beetle or wire potato masher. Press the peas may be well broken. Press through a sieve, working to get all the pulp possible, then return to the fire. In a double boiler prepare a thin sauce with one large teaspoonful of butter, two scant teaspoonfuls of flour, and one pint of milk. With this gradually blend the pea pulp, add more seasoning if necessary and simmer for ten minutes longer.

Take one pound and a half of cod or any fresh water fish with white flesh and large bones. Remove the skin and bones, cut the raw flesh in pieces, pass through a food chopper and then pound to a paste and press through a sieve. From the middle of a stale loaf of bread take one cupful and a half of fine crumbs, mix them with three-quarters of a cupful of milk and stir over the fire to a smooth paste. Mix this with the fish pulp, a scant teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne. Beat in lightly and gradually the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs. Fill a buttered mold with the mixture, stand in a pan partly filled with hot water and place in a moderate oven about three-quarters of an hour or until firm in the center. When lightly pressed with the finger. Make a cream sauce with a cupful and a half of milk, one heaping teaspoonful each of flour and butter, and salt and pepper to taste. Just before taking from the fire add one teaspoonful of lemon juice and the yolks of two eggs mixed with a tablespoonful of cream.

Dice sufficient potatoes to make a pint. Boil in salted water until barely tender. Drain, return to the fire, add one tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste and shake often until the butter is absorbed. When taken from the fire sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Five spoonsful of round of beef cut in a solid piece will make a good piece. Mix one cupful of vinegar, a tablespoonful each of pepper, mustard, cloves and allspice. Boil five minutes, chill, pour over the meat, and turn off for six hours. Make deep incisions in the meat, press into them strips of fat salt pork rolled in a mixture of simmer gently for ten minutes. Add spices. Tie in compact shape and brown quickly on all sides in a little hot fat. Remove to a covered pan. Brown in the fat two large onions and a carrot cut fine. Place these round the meat, half cover with boiling water, add a tablespoonful of herbs tied in muslin, cover and simmer until very tender—this takes about four hours. Transfer to a hot platter, remove the strings and serve.

Pick over and wash half a peck or more of spinach, removing all wilted leaves. As this green is apt to be very sandy use five or six waters. Drain and drop into a large kettle of salted, boiling water and boil, uncovered, until the midribs feel tender. Drain, drop into cold water for ten minutes, then drain again, pressing until very dry. Chop fine and reheat in two tablespoonfuls of butter, salt and pepper to taste. A recipe for rice croquettes was given a couple of weeks ago.

For the tomato jelly salad put in a saucepan a half can of tomatoes, a bay leaf, four cloves, a blade of mace, a half teaspoonful of salt, half as much paprika, ten drops of onion juice and simmer gently for ten minutes. Add one-third of a package of gelatine which has been soaked in a half cupful of cold water until soft, stir until dissolved. Take from the fire, add two tablespoonfuls of tarragon vinegar, press through a sieve and turn into one large or individual molds wet in cold water. When firm turn out and arrange on a bed of lettuce leaves.

With it serve a good mayonnaise. The cheese fingers are quickly made and very savory. Mix one cupful of flour, quarter teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, a half teaspoonful of baking powder, rub into this two tablespoonfuls of butter, add a half cupful of grated cheese, and mix to a dough with ice water. Roll out in a thin sheet, cut in half inch strips with a jagged iron and bake pale brown in a moderate oven.

Separate the whites and yolks of four eggs. Beat the yolks with six ounces of powdered sugar until very light and thick. Add the grated rind of two lemons and stir over the fire in a large double boiler until thick, adding gradually the strained lemon juice. When thick and smooth add the whites whipped to a stiff froth and cut and stir for three minutes longer. Take from the fire and heap in small glasses. Allow one tablespoonful of finely ground coffee and two thirds of a cupful of boiling water for each person. Use a drop pot and serve the coffee clear, strong and piping hot.

RECOGNIZED REAL POWER.

(Minneapolis Journal.)
Here is an anecdote about Mr. Cassatt hitherto unpublished. He was walking out to his home in Rittenhouse square with one of the directors.
"That's a very fine place you have there, Mr. Cassatt," said the director, surveying the mansion of the president.
"Yes," replied Mr. Cassatt with doubtful appreciation, "but I would rather live in the country."

"Then why don't you?"
Mr. Cassatt looked at his friend very soberly and asked:
"Aren't you married?"

THE BEST KNOWLEDGE.

"There's Jenkins, for instance; now he knows something about whisky."
"Nonsense. He never drank a drop in his life."
"That's what I mean."
